[Play 2.0 (2★) 2018/7/4 20:44 (GMT+7) Sid)] VERY GOOD ~[P] A bit unrefined, yet it's so organic and fun. [StitchN'Play (3★) 2018/7/10 20:56 (GMT+7) [P] Literally got this game within 12 hours of release, almost right away. Every aspect of this game is very impressive, from the art style and music to the gameplay. The story even starts out fairly low key and just when you thought you were going to be disappointed, twists and turns happen and it just keeps getting more interesting and engaging. Also, as a first time player, I find myself wondering how I could possibly complete the game? It's soooo easy. Besides the collectibles, that I know I'll never get back, I'd say this game is a ton of fun and well worth your time.] [C] :chuckle::super_laugh::chuckle::super_laugh::chuckle::super_laugh::chuckle: [Sid] 5 A bit unrefined, yet it's so organic and fun. Tears of the Sisters on Titania! As of September 13th!!I've been playing a lot of Guild Wars and WoW lately... but I don't play MMO's very often, so I'm starting to look to games with a bit more depth in order to replenish my dwindling energy. But it happened...

The Lovely Elenar, also known as Mr. Bomb, is expanding his writing to form a regular feature on my main blog! He is an avid and talented game critic and as such I couldn't be more happy to start working together.

No, Twitch isn't doing away with the midnight broadcast. It's actually doing away with the new "Twitch Prime" and gamers have taken to Twitter to protest. For those who weren't part of the Twitch Prime community, there were perks like access to the exclusive in-game items that were once only available to Twitch Prime members. The premium in-game items Twitch offered were exclusive to Prime members and the service allowed gamers to stream their gameplay and interact with other players. Unfortunately, there was a glitch in the scheme that allowed Prime members to stream gaming without paying a dime. We've been seeing a ton of mentions from gamers how they had a hard time streaming games with the new Twitch Prime servers, and now we know why, the game actually launches them via the servers and the game didn't account for this new system. The problem appears to stem from the fact that the game launched the new servers prior to the official launch of Twitch Prime. As a result, the streaming servers were never properly loaded and never shut down, which is why you can't sign in and if you try to connect, the servers are down. The issue has been so severe that the developers have now started a new private beta of the game that attempts to fix the issue. The Twitch Prime Community was thrown under the bus by the game because the developers blamed them for the issue, which appears to be untrue
